Short title and commencement

34. This Act is called the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, and comes into operation on a date to be determined by the President by proclamation in the Gazette.
MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE FIREARMS CONTROL AMENDMENT BILL, 2015

1. BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE

1.1 The Firearms Control Amendment Bill, 2015 (the Bill), seeks to amend the Firearms Control Act, 2000 (Act No. 60 of 2000) (the Act). In the process of the putting into operation of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006 (Act No. 28 of 2006), some deficiencies in the Act, had been noted, namely a that some consequential amendments are required in order to align the control over muzzle loading firearms with the control over firearms. Submissions were also made by the National Association of Arms Collectors of South Africa, pertaining to a lack of transitional provisions in respect of percussion cap-and-ball firearms. Although the same could be provided for in regulations, the impact of licensing percussion cap-and-ball firearms on the number of firearms which may be possessed can only be addressed through legislative amendment.

1.2 A Task team appointed by the Minister of Police in the meantime investigated the Central Firearms Register and made recommendations to the Minister in order to address the problems experienced by the Central Firearms Register in the timeous and proper consideration of applications for firearms and making decisions on such applications. There was also some confusion on the proper interpretation of the provisions relating to the validity of competency certificates, the provisions relating to the issue of renewing competency certificates as well as the regulation of muzzle loading firearms.
1.3 Whilst the amendment of the Act as well as the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006, is necessary, there was a critical review of all issues pertaining to the Act. Other amendments were also included, such as providing for a uniform period of validity for competency certificates, the designation of a Designated Firearms Officer at each police station, as far as practicably possible, to improve the control over firearms in possession of the police and other Official Institutions and private security service providers.

1.4 In order to improve the control of firearms issued in terms of the Act, the amendment also seeks to provide for the compulsory application of microdots on all firearms that are licenced in terms of the Act. This will enhance the identification and tracing of all licenced firearms. The amendment also seeks to place a limit on the number of semi-automatic rifles and semi-automatic handguns that may be licenced to a dedicated-hunter or a dedicated sports-shooter.

1.5 In SA Hunters A.O v Minister of Safety and Security Case No: 33656/09, the South African Hunters Association sought an urgent interim order in the High Court to declare the firearm licences issued in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 to be lawful and valid pending the finalisation of the main application as to the constitutionality of item 1(1) of Schedule 1 to the Act.

1.6 The main application was against the commencement and implementation of item 1(1) of the Act, which provides for transitional provisions. Item (1)(1) to the Schedule provides that any licence which was issued in terms of the repealed Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 (Act No. 75 of 1969) and which was valid immediately before the date of the Act, remains valid for a period of five years from the date on which the Act comes into operation, unless such licence is terminated, cancelled or surrendered in terms of the Act. In addition, firearm licence holders must within this period apply for new licences in terms of the Act, lawfully dispose of any firearm not lawfully possessed and any firearm not disposed of may be forfeited to the State.

1.7 In the main application the South African Hunters Association were to argue that the item 1(1) of the Act infringed the constitutional right to ownership (of a firearm); the right not to be prosecuted and imprisoned for the possession of firearms that were legally acquired in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969; the right to lawful, reasonable and procedurally fair administrative action.

1.8 The SA Hunters Association maintained that the five year period would expire before all the licence holders could apply and obtain licences and competency certificates due to backlogs in the South African Police Service, resulting in the applications not yet being processed and finalised in terms of the Act. The State did not have resources to implement the administration necessary to finalise the renewal of firearm applications and new firearm applications. Some licenses applications had been declined. As a result of this situation many lawful licence holders would be subject to criminal prosecution by virtue of not holding licences to possess their firearms in terms of the Act, and their firearms would be forfeited to the State.

1.9 The High Court in the South African Hunters Association case held that a prima facie case had been made in respect of the pending main application as to the absence of a justification for the limitations of the constitutional rights affected by the impugned transitional provisions. The respondent could not show any justifications for the limitations. Furthermore the North Gauteng High Court held that the legislature should have taken into account the available administrative facilities and should not have designed a transitional arrangement which cannot be implemented by the officials of the respondent.

1.10 The North Gauteng High Court granted an interim order pending the finalisation of the main application as to the constitutionality of the impugned transitional provisions as contained in Schedule 1 to the Act. The court ordered that that firearm licenses which were issued in terms of the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969 will be deemed to remain valid until the main application had been finalised.

1.11 Based on this judgement, the Bill seeks to propose amendments to give effect to rectify the anomalous transitional provisions contained in Schedule 1 to the Act.

2. CLAUSE-BY-CLAUSE ANALYSIS

2.1 Clause 1

Clause 1 of the Bill amends section 1 of the Act by substituting the definitions of "Minister" and "muzzle loading firearm" and adding the definitions of "Integrated Ballistics Identification System", "ballistic sampling", "microdot" and "percussion cap-and-ball firearm".
2.2 Clause 2

2.2.1 Clause 2 of the Bill amends section 8 of the Act which provides for the accreditation by the Registrar (who is the National Commissioner of Police who generally delegates certain duties and functions in writing) in terms of the Act, of associations belonging to firearm licence holders. Clause 2 adds two new subsections to section 8 of the Act.

2.2.2 The new section 8(7) provides that an authorised office bearer of an accredited association must in the prescribed manner verify applications by its member for the possession of firearms and ammunition made by members regarding the use, purpose and category firearm applied for, including the motivation for the application or any other part of the application. The new section 8(8) provides that the Registrar must consider the verification by the accredited association when considering the application of a member of that association, but the Registrar may also verify such information independently and may also refuse the application on good cause.

2.3 Clause 3

Clause 3 of the Bill amends section 9 to provide for the inclusion of a "professional hunter" or a "private collector" in the categories of compelling reasons for allowing a person to be in possession of a firearm before he or she is 21 years of age.
2.4 Clause 4

Clause 4 of the Bill amends section 10 of the Act which provides for competency certificates to, among other things, possess, trade in or manufacture, firearms. Clause 4 of the Bill amends section 10 to provide that a competency certificate shall remain valid for a period of 5 years from the date of issue, unless terminated in terms of the Act and subject to transitional provisions provided for in Clause 30 in the proposed item 3C in the Schedule 1.

2.5 Clause 5

Clause 5 of the Bill amends section 10A of the Act which provides for the renewal of competency certificates. Clause 5 provides that applications for renewal of competency certificates must be made at least 90 days before the date of expiry of such competency certificate.

2.6 Clause 6

Clause 6 of the Bill amends section 15 of the Act which provides for licence to possess a firearm for occasional hunting and sports-shooting. Clause 6 of the Bill provides that a fifth licence may be issued in the category of occasional sports shooting or occasional hunting in order to accommodate the licensing of percussion cap-and-ball firearms where a person has already licensed four firearms in that category.
2.7 Clause 7

Clause 7 of the Bill amends clause 16 of the Act by inserting new subsections. Subsection (5) is inserted to provide that a semi-automatic rifle or a semi-automatic shotgun may only be registered to a person who has maintained a dedicated status as a hunter or sports-shooter for at least two years and continues to hold such status. A maximum of two semi-automatic rifles or semi-automatic handguns may be licenced in terms of this clause, unless compelling reasons are provided by the applicant for such additional firearms. Clause 7 also provides that a written motivation must also be made for more than the number of licences contemplated in subsection (5) and section 15 of the Act for occasional hunting and sports-shooting.

2.8 Clause 8

Clause 8 of the Bill amends section 17 of the Act by providing that a firearm which may be possessed in a private collection is a firearm approved by an accredited collectors association to which the private collector is a member in good standing and where such firearm is demonstrated to be part of the said private collector’s approved field of interest. The requirement in section 17(2) of the principal Act that an application in terms of section 17 must be accompanied by a sworn statement or solemn declaration by the chairperson of an accredited association is qualified in that the proposed amendment provides that such chairperson must state that the applicant is a member in good standing and that the applicant has confirmed to the association that he or she complies with the requirements of the Act.
2.9 Clause 9

2.9.1 Clause 9 of the Bill amends section 23 of the Act which provides for identification marks on firearms. The clause provides that, in addition to the information provided for in section 23 of the Act, no firearm licence may be issued unless the firearm is applied with microdots in the prescribed manner and containing such information as may be prescribed. The microdots must comply with the requirements of standard specification SANS 534-1 and contain the model and manufacturer’s serial number and such other information as may be prescribed.

2.9.2 The clause also adds subsection (8) that provides for the application of microdots and the affixing of a serial number in the prescribed manner to muzzle loading firearms which are imported or kept in a dealers’ stocks. It is made clear that such “affixing” does not imply marking of the firearm itself.

2.10 Clause 10

Clause 10 of the Bill provides that that if the application of the renewal of a licence is made before the expiry of the licence, that the licence remains valid until the application has been decided. A penalty is provided for if the application is made in less than 90 days from the expiry date of the firearms licence.

2.11 Clause 11

2.11.1 Clause 11 of the Bill inserts a new section 23A to provide for the compulsory application of microdots in the prescribed manner on all new firearms registered in terms of the Act and that the microdots must comply with the requirements of standard specification SANS 534-1 before the firearm may be licenced by the Registrar. An obligation is also placed on the applicant to submit a certificate issued by an accredited service provider that microdots have been applied to the firearm together with the application for a licence.

2.11.2 Holders of firearm licences issued prior to the coming into operation of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, are required to have microdots that comply with specification SANS 534-1 applied in the prescribed manner containing the prescribed information within six months of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, being put into operation. A certificate of microdot application issued by the accredited service provider must also be submitted in the prescribed form to the Registrar within six weeks after the expiry of the six months, failing which the Registrar may terminate the firearm licence in accordance with the procedures set out in section 28 of the Act.

2.11.3 Clause 11 furthermore provides for the insertion of a new section 23B in the Act, which provides for the ballistic sampling of all firearms licensed in terms of the Act, inclusive of firearms for self-defence, occasional and dedicated sports shooting and hunting, collection, subject to the ability of the firearm to be safely fired and the availability of ammunition, as well as firearms intended for business purposes, including for purposes of the rendering of security services. The Act provides for the publication by the Minister in the Gazette of dates to comply with this section as well as the power to extend these dates.
2.12 Clause 12

Clause 12 of the Bill seeks to amend section 31 of the Act by the deletion of the words "in a collection" after the word "ammunition", thereby including all ammunition to be included in the section that provides its sale or donation to be done without the intervention of a dealer.

2.13 Clauses 13 to 19

Clauses 13 to 19 of the Bill amends section 36, 39, 46, 50, 53, 56 and 59 of the principal Act by making consequential amendments relating to references to muzzle loading firearms.

2.14 Clause 20

Clause 20 of the Bill amends section 84 of the principal Act by providing that the Minister may prescribe the manner in which a firearm must be carried by a security officer in the performance of duties.

2.15 Clause 21

Clause 21 of the Bill amends section 91 of the Act which provides for the restriction on possession of ammunition. Clause 21 of the Bill amends section 91 of the Act by making the restriction applicable not only to a holder of a licence but also to a private collector, an accredited training service provider or a professional hunter. Clause 21 therefore provides that the holder of a licence, a private collector, an accredited training service provider or a professional hunter may not possess more than 200 cartridges unless the Registrar authorises the possession of cartridges in excess of 200 cartridges, in respect of each licensed firearm on good cause shown. The term “on good cause shown” is expanded on with relation to the submission of proof of the frequency of the use of the firearm, the level of participation in the relevant activity for which the firearm is registered, the number of cartridges used per occasion and any other relevant factors or circumstances.

2.16 Clause 22

Clause 22 of the Bill amends section 96 of the Act which provides for exemptions of Official Institutions from the application of the Act. Clause 20 inserts a cross reference to the new item 1C of Schedule 1 to ensure that item 1C is one of the only provisions that apply to an Official Institution. Item 1C is a transitional provision which provides that an Official Institution must within one year of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, fully comply with the provisions of Chapter 11 (which regulates the handling of firearms by Official Institutions), and the Heads of Official Institutions must report to the Registrar on progress made on a quarterly basis.

2.17 Clause 23

2.17.1 Clause 23 of the Bill inserts new sections 98A and 98B in the Act, to provide for the application of microdots and ballistic testing of firearms in possession of Official Institutions. Clause 23 of the Bill also provides that the Head of an official institution must comply with a notice issued by the Minister for the ballistic sampling of all firearms in the custody of that Head, and the results of the ballistic sampling must be placed on the Integrated Ballistics Identification System, for purposes of investigating crimes committed with firearms.

2.17.2 In addition, clause 23 of the Bill authorises the Minister by notice in the Gazette, to determine the date by which the firearms in possession of an Official Institution must be ballistically sampled, and microdotted and that the Minister may extend such date by notice in the Gazette.

2.18 Clause 24

2.18.1 Clause 24 amends section 124 of the Act which provides for the functions of the Registrar. Clause 24 of the Bill provides for the Registrar to submit quarterly reports to the Minister and Parliament on all losses of firearms issued to members of the Service, the investigation of losses of firearms and ammunition under the control of the Service and disciplinary steps taken and criminal prosecutions instituted against members for such losses.

2.18.2 Clause 24 also adds new subsections (4) and (5) to section 124 of the Act. The new section 124(4) provides for the obligatory designation of a Designated Firearms Officer at each police station, as far as practicably possible, in order to provide focused and undivided attention to control over firearms and ammunition in the possession of the police as well as other official institutions and the private security industry. The Designation Firearms Officer will ensure compliance with the Act by inspections at Official Institutions, and regular and random inspections at business premises of security service providers. This will also enhance access by the public to services and the speedy processing of applications for competency certificates and licenses.

2.18.3 Clause 24 furthermore provides for approval by the Minister of a list of Dedicated Firearms Officers who will only perform such function at that station, which list must be reviewed annually.

2.19 Clause 25

Clause 25 of the Bill inserts new sections 124A and 124B in the Act. Clause 25 of the Bill imposes duties on commanders and station commissioners with regard to firearms kept at police stations, disciplinary steps to be taken against members who have lost firearms, the reporting of losses of official firearms and ammunition and the investigation of such losses, safekeeping of firearms and ammunition, as well as the regular and random inspections of official registers by the commanders and station commissioners. The station commissioners must effectively supervise and control the duties and functions of the Designated Firearms Officer.

2.20 Clause 26

Clause 26 of the Bill amends section 128 of the Act which establishes the Appeal Board which considers appeals against the decisions of the Registrar made in terms of the Act. Clause 26 provides for the appointment by the Minister of additional members to the Appeal Board, which currently is supposed to be at least five members. Clause 26 also clarifies the functions of the Appeal Board.

2.21 Clause 27

Clause 27 of the Bill substitutes section 131 of the Act which provides for the administrative work of the Appeal Board. Clause 27 provides for the enhancement of the independence of the Appeal Board by providing that administrative work of the Appeal Board may not be performed by members attached to the Office of the Central Firearms Register and that the Appeal Board must function independently from the Office of the Central Firearms Register.

2.22 Clause 28

Clause 28 of the Bill amends section 140 of the Act provides for the correct reference to the Secretary for the Police Service in the provisions relating to firearm-free zones.

2.23 Clause 29

2.23.1 Clause 29 of the Bill amends section 145 of the Act which provides for the areas on which the Minister may make regulations. Clause 29 inserts new paragraphs (mA) and (mB) in section 145, in order to allow the making of regulations regarding the consideration and processing of appeals being considered by the Appeal Board and the consideration and processing of applications for competency certificates and licences to possess firearms.

2.23.2 The clause also inserts new paragraph \((mC)\) in order to provide for the application of microdots to firearms and muzzle loading firearms and the information that must be contained in the microdots and new paragraph \((mD)\) to provide for the performance of the functions by designated firearms officers.

2.23.3 The clause also increases the penalty for any contravention or failure to comply with the regulations by providing for a fine or imprisonment for a period not exceeding three years or both such a fine and such imprisonment in the case of a natural person and to a fine not exceeding three hundred thousand rands in the case of a juristic person.

2.24 Clause 30

2.24.1 Clause 30 of the Bill amends Schedule 1 to the Act. Clause 30 provides for a correction to the English text of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006, by referring to "subitem" instead of "subsection".

2.24.2 The clause also inserts a transitional provision in respect of the licensing of percussion cap-and-ball firearms. Clause 30 provides for the lawful possession of a percussion cap-and-ball firearm but a person in such possession must, within 18 months of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, apply for a licence to possess such percussion cap-and-ball firearms. There will be no criminal prosecutions within the 18 months of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015. Furthermore, the South African Police Service may dispose of any percussion cap-and-ball firearm surrendered to it by a person who has not applied for licences within the stipulated 18 months.

2.24.3 Clause 30 inserts new items 1C, 1D and 1E in Schedule 1 to the Act. The new item 1C provides that all Official Institutions must, within one year of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, comply with Chapter 11 of the Act.

2.24.4 The new item 1C of Schedule 1 provides for the lawful possession of an action, frame or receiver but a person in such possession must, within 18 months of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, apply for a licence to possess such action, frame or receiver. There will be no criminal prosecutions within the 18 months of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015. Furthermore, the South African Police Service may dispose of any action, frame or receiver surrendered to it by a person who has not applied for licences within the stipulated 18 months.

2.24.5 The new item 1E of Schedule gives effect to the interim court order granted in the South African Hunters Association case. Provision is also made for persons who were licensed to possess firearms under the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969, and never renewed their firearms as required by the Act. In terms of the provision a period of two years which may be extended by the Minister with approval of Parliament for another two years, is provided for the relicensing of such firearms.
2.24.6 It is important to point out that High Court in the South African Hunters Association case emphasised that the legislature must take into account the available administrative facilities that are designed to implement the transitional arrangement are in place and must be able to be implemented by the official of the Department. This still also applies to the proposed new item 1E of Schedule 1 to the Act.

2.25 Clause 31

Clause 31 inserts an item 12 in Schedule 1 to the principal Act, after item 11 to make interim provisions in respect of the validity period of competency certificates.

2.26 Clause 32

Clause 32 amends Schedule 4 of the principal Act by the insertion in the Table after section 16(4) of "section 16(9)" in the first column and the insertion of “five years” in the corresponding second column; and by the insertion in the Table after section 29(2) of "section 30A(7)" in the first column and the insertion of "five years" in the corresponding second column.

2.26 Clause 33

Clause 32 amends Parts 1 and 2 of Schedule 2 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1997 (Act No. 105 of 1997) to provide for minimum sentences where the victim of a murder had been killed by means of a firearm, a firearm was used to threaten a victim during a rape, compelled rape or robbery, and also when a person had been in possession of any firearm.

2.27 Clause 34

Clause 34 contains the short title and commencement of the Act, which is to be on a date determined by the President by Proclamation in the Gazette.

3. DEPARTMENTS/BODIES/PERSONS CONSULTED

3.1 The Bill was drafted by a Task Team consisting of officials of both the South African Police Service and the Civilian Secretariat of Police. The draft Bill was consulted with interested groups including dealers, collectors and trainers. These groups included the following—

3.1.1 The South African Police Service;

3.2.2 The International Firearms Training Academy;

3.3.3 The Professional Hunters Association;

3.4.4 The SA Hunters and Game Conservation Association; and

3.4.5 The SA Sports Shooting Federation.

3.4.6 A draft Bill was also made available on which a huge volume of comments have been received. The provisions relating to percussion cap-and-ball firearms were inserted following representations by the National Association of Arms and Ammunition Collectors of South Africa.

3.3 A further draft Bill was also distributed to accredited firearms associations for comment after the Bill was revised following a presentation to the Justice Crime Prevention and Security Cabinet Committee in November 2014. Comments in this regard were also received from associations as well as individual members of the public.

4. IMPLICATIONS FOR PROVINCES

None.

5. CONSTITUTIONAL IMPLICATIONS

None. The draft Bill had been provisionally certified by the Office of the Chief State Law Adviser.

6. ORGANISATIONAL AND PERSONNEL IMPLICATIONS

The appointment of Designated Firearms Officers at each police station and the training of such members will spread the workload and improve the application process as well as access by the public to services. The appointment of additional members to the Appeal Board will enhance the capacity of the Board to deal with appeals more effectively and speedily.

7. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR THE STATE

7.1 Additional costs such as the appointment of additional members to the Appeal Board can be met from the budget of the Civilian Secretariat. The Civilian Secretariat budget for the remuneration of all Appeal Board members and administrative support capacity is R4,79 million.
7.2 The costs relating to the appointment of the Designated Firearms Officers and their training will be borne by the South African Police Service. The estimated cost is R5,4 million.

7.3 The South African Police Service has also estimated that the costs to ensure that the Central Firearms Registry is adequately resourced and skilled to deliver on its mandate is R1,3 million.

7.4 The costs relating to the application of microdots on firearms will be borne by the applicant for a firearm licence and the holder of a firearm licence issued before the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015, is put into operation. The costs for microdotting is about R450.00 per firearm. The application of microdots and the ballistic sampling of firearms issued to Official Institutions will be borne by the relevant Official Institution. It will be the same per unit as for individuals for microdotting and the ballistic sampling relates mostly to inconvenience for the owner or official institution. As the costs related to the ballistic sampling of all firearms in private possession need to be established it is not foreseen that this obligation will be activated in the following financial year and it will be properly budgeted for in a following financial year. The volume of data would also involve an upgrading of the computer capacity at the Forensic Science Laboratory.

8. COMMUNICATION IMPLICATIONS

It is planned that communication on the introduction of the Bill be coordinated by the Civilian Secretariat and the South African Police Service with the the Government
9. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

9.1 The Constitution prescribes procedure for the classification of Bills, therefore a Bill must be correctly classified so that it does not become inconsistent with the Constitution.

9.2 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser considered the Bill against the provisions of the Constitution relating to the tagging of Bills and against the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 (functional areas of concurrent national and provincial legislative competence) and Schedule 5 (functional areas of exclusive provincial legislative competence) to the Constitution.

9.3 The established test for classification of a Bill is that any Bill whose provisions in substantial measure fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution must be classified in terms of that Schedule. The process is concerned with the question of how the Bill should be considered by the provinces and in the National Council of Provinces. Furthermore, how a Bill must be considered by the provincial legislatures depends on whether it affects the provinces. The more the Bill affects the interests, concerns and capacities of the provinces, the more say the provinces should have on the contents of the Bill.

9.4 The issue to be determined is whether the proposed amendments to the Act, as contained in the Bill, in substantial measure, fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.

9.5 The Bill amends the Act to accommodate the deficiencies identified in the implementation of the Act and consequential amendments to the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2006.

9.6 The Bill generally provides the control and licensing of firearms; the verification of applications for firearm licences by an accredited association; the compulsory application of microdots to all new and already licensed firearms; the alignment of the control over muzzle loading firearms with the control over firearms; the period of validity for competency certificates and the period of renewal competency certificates; the designation of a Designated Firearms Officer at each police station to improve the control over firearms in possession of the police and other Official Institutions; monitoring firearms in the possession of private security service providers; the regulation of muzzle loading firearms; the application of microdots and the ballistic sampling of firearms of Official Institutions; transitional provisions in respect of licensing of percussion cap-and-ball firearms; the transitional arrangements for persons who were licensed to possess firearms under the Arms and Ammunition Act, 1969, and never renewed their firearms as required by the Act. In terms of the provision a period of two years which may be extended by the Minister with approval of Parliament for another two years, is provided for the relicensing of such firearms, which means that the relicensing must occur within two years of the commencement of the Firearms Control Amendment Act, 2015.

9.7 The proposed amendments reflected have been carefully examined to establish whether, in substantial measure, they fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution.

9.8 In the view of the Office of the Chief State Law Adviser, the subject matter of the proposed amendments does not fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution and it does not affect provinces whereby the procedure set out in section 76 of the Constitution would be applicable.

9.9 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser is therefore of the opinion that since this Bill does not deal with any of the matters listed in Schedule 4 of the Constitution, it must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure set out in section 75 of the Constitution.

9.10 The Office of the Chief State Law Adviser is also of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
